

Four in ten Britons want the UK to land a UK-EU trade deal after transition period

11th March 2020, London

Kantar research (5th – 9th March 2020) finds that:

- 47% of Britons think that the UK government is handling the Coronavirus outbreak very or fairly well, compared to 33% who think it is being handled very or fairly poorly. One in five (20%) are 'not sure';
- Half of the public think that most people will follow the government guidance on Coronavirus (49%). 28% think that most people won't follow the guidance; 8% think almost everyone will follow guidance; and 4% think almost nobody will follow the guidance
- Majority of Britons don't think that the UK leaving the EU will make it easier or more difficult for the UK government to handle outbreaks like Coronavirus in the future (54%). 17% think it will be more difficult or much more difficult; 16% think it will be easier or much easier.

Public view on negotiations with the European Union

- Three in ten Britons (32%) think that the UK government is handling the negotiations regarding the UK and EU's future 'well'; 42% of people think they are being handled 'poorly'.
- There is no clarity amongst the public about how the UK will exit the transition period with. 28% think it is most likely the UK will leave with a trade deal with EU; 29% think the UK will exit transition period under WTO terms with no EU trade deal; 42% 'don't know'.
- 44% of Britons would prefer a UK-EU trade deal to come into force after the transition period, compared to 22% who prefer that the UK exits under WTO terms with no EU trade deal. 34% don't know.
- If a new referendum was held on the UK's membership of the European Union, 37% of Britons say they would vote to Remain, 34% say they would vote to Leave. 21% say they wouldn't vote and 8% 'don't know'.

- When asked if the UK should consider re-joining the EU if the general economic situation turned out to be a lot worse after Brexit, 35% of Britons think it should not, 27% think it should and 21% said maybe. 17% answered 'don't know'.

General Election voting intentions

- Conservative 50%
- Labour 29%
- Liberal Democrats 11%
- SNP 4%
- Green 2%
- The Brexit Party 1%
- UKIP 1%
- Plaid Cymru 1%
- Other <1%

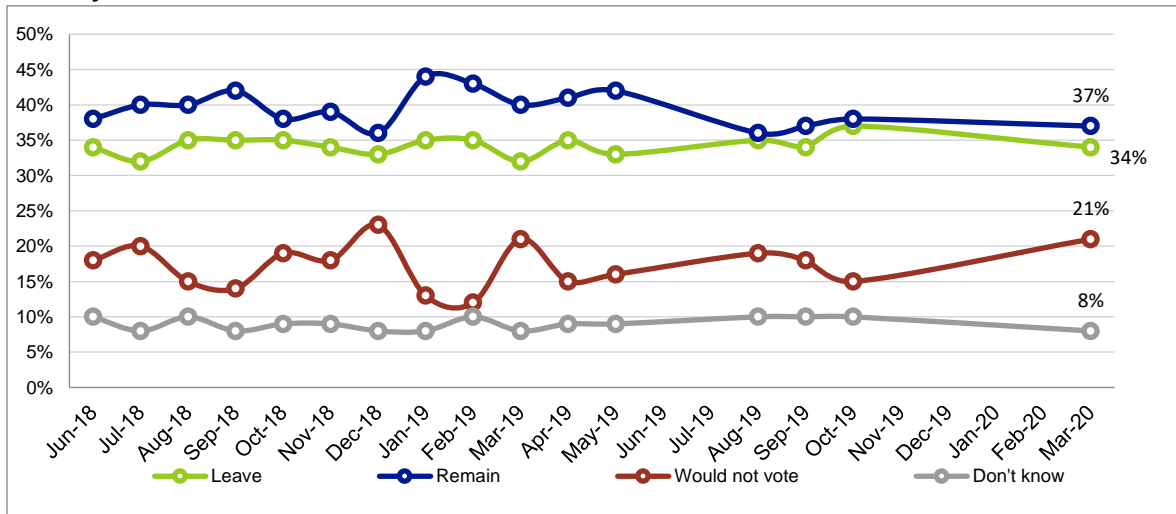

Public view on Labour leadership race

- 1 in 4 of Britons who voted for Labour at the last General Election think Sir Keir Starmer would make the best leader of the Labour party
- 15% of the same group think Lisa Nandy would make the best leader; 8% said the same of Rebecca Long-Bailey
- 52% of people who voted Labour at the last General Election say they don't know who would make the best leader of the Labour Party
- Amongst Britons who did not vote for Labour at the last General Election, when asked if any of the candidates for the Labour party leadership would make them more likely to vote Labour, 10% said Sir Keir Starmer, 4% Lisa Nandy, 4% Rebecca Long-Bailey, 62% said 'none of these' and 21% did not know.

Public opinion on personal and national economy

- 45% of Britons think that leaving the EU will make the price of things they buy a bit or much worse.
- Half of Britons (52%) working full or part time feel that their job is security is much the same as it was 12 months ago. One in four (26%) feel it is less safe and 12% feel it is safer than 12 months ago.
- Over half of Britons (56%) think that the British economy is doing much the same as it was 12 months ago. One in three (31%) think it is doing worse, and 13% think it is doing better than this time last year.
- When asked to think ahead to 12 months' time, half of Britons think the economy will be doing much the same (51%), one in three think it will be worse than now (32%) and 17% think better than now.

Methodological information

The survey data and further details on the methodological approach can be found here.

A total of 1,171 interviews were conducted online among adults living in Great Britain between 5th and 9th March 2020. Interviews were conducted using the Kantar Research Express Online Omnibus, which uses the Kantar online access panel as its sample source.

The data was weighted to match population totals for age, gender, working status, 2019 General Election voting patterns, 2016 EU referendum voting patterns, education, region, and likelihood to vote in the next General Election. Any use of this research must cite Kantar as the source.

About Kantar

Kantar is the world's leading data, insights and consulting company. We understand more about how people think, feel, shop, share, vote and view than anyone else. Combining our expertise in human understanding with advanced technologies, Kantar's 30,000 people help the world's leading organisations succeed and grow.

Polling Methodological Note – March 2020

A representative sample of 1,171 adults in Great Britain were interviewed between the 5th and 9th March 2020. All interviews were conducted as online self-completion. The Kantar online access panel was the main sample source.

The data was weighted to match population totals for age, gender, working status, 2019 General Election voting patterns, 2016 EU referendum voting patterns, education, region, and likelihood to vote in the next General Election. Further details on the weighting are given on page two.

Voting intentions

The voting intention figures provided aim to show the current political opinion of the nation rather than to accurately predict the outcome of the next General Election.

As well as weighting the data, a Likelihood to Vote (LTV) Model has been used to estimate the voting probability of each respondent. These probabilities vary by stated likelihood of voting, age and whether reported voting in the 2019 General Election. The probabilities themselves are based on those of respondents that participated in our polls immediately before and after the 2017 General Election.

Uncertainty

All polls are subject to a wide range of potential sources of error. On the basis of the historical record of the polls at recent general elections, there is a 9 in 10 chance that the true value of a party's support lies within 4 points of the estimates provided by this poll, and a 2 in 3 chance that it lies within 2 points.

Sampling variance

We have estimated the sampling variation in our voting intention estimates using the methodology proposed by Kuha and Sturgis (2017¹). Bootstrap resampling was used to draw fifty sets of respondents from the achieved sample (in a way which matched the quota sampling design), each of these new samples was weighted and we have then used the distribution of estimates (from the resamples) to calculate margins of error (the range containing all but the two most extreme resample results).

- Conservative Party = 46.8% to 53.1%
- Labour Party = 27.1% to 32.2%
- Conservative lead over Labour = 15.8%pts to 25.6%pts

Weighting

Weights have been applied to the sample to ensure that it is representative of the general public in Great Britain aged 18+. The sources for the population totals are provided in each table.

Likelihood to Vote in General Election

We have estimated the likelihood that each respondent will vote in the next General Election. This value is based on respondents' stated intention to vote, their age and whether they voted in the last general election. The expected population turnout has been included as a population total in the weighting matrix. This turnout has been estimated based on the relationship between sample and population turnout rates in the 2017 general election.

	Unweighted percentage	Weighted percentage
Estimated Voting Age Population turnout if General Election were to be held tomorrow	83%	59%

The model was developed using data from respondents that participated in Kantar Public polls immediately prior to the 2017 general election and immediately after the election.
